

Learning Objectives Kindness Curriculum Session 4

James Kyung-Jin Lee Ph.D. and Ron David, MD

1. Students will learn to develop a verbatim report to cultivate the importance of narrative in the work of meaning-making and healing.
2. Students will be able to identify a variety of strategies for self-awareness and self-reflection, especially as they pertain to clinical interactions.
3. Students will be able to state the benefits of being aware of one's autobiography in clinical care.
4. Students will develop specific skills in eliciting and respecting patients' autopathographies (their stories of illness).