

FHS REVIEW 2017 1

his 55 word story captures a tense but ultimately charming moment that is replayed often in the family medicine setting: a young patient, a stern grandma, and an unwanted possible pregnancy. I liked the title, which emphasizes the element of time. I really liked the last line of the grandma's comment. It lifted the writing beyond the ordinary and gave it some real character. Overall, I felt the story would be strengthened by a little more attention to language through some relatively minor word tweaks. Please pay attention to tense consistency, proper dialogue punctuation, and correct use of capitals. Here is one alternative version of your story; and surely there are others.
